A Revenue Inspector Convicted.

St. Louis, Oct. 23.—In the U. S. district court for the western district of Missouri the case of Colonel John A. Joyce, which has been in progress several days, was concluded this afternoon. The jury returned a verdict of guilty on all four of the indictments. [illegible] charge Joyce with having knowledge or information of violation of the revenue laws by [illegible] of Kansas City in not making entries in their books as required by law and emptying the packages without cancelling the stamps, and not reporting this to his superior officers. The third count charges him with having knowledge that [illegible] spirits were made with a view to defraud the United States of the revenue tax. The fourth count charges him with conspiring and colluding with Edward [illegible] to defraud the government. The penalties in each count of the indictment are imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than six months or more than two years, or a fine of not less than $1,000 nor more than $5,000, and to be forever debarred from holding under the United States government any office of honor, trust or profit. A motion for a new trial of Joyce's counsel will be argued next week. A motion for a new trial of John [illegible] Bittinger, who was convicted some days ago of making fraudulent vouchers as United States gauger, will be argued Wednesday. A like motion in the case of Adler and Hurst on Saturday. Col. Joyce was placed in custody of the United States Marshal after the verdict, but he has the freedom of the city.

Conviction of the Chief of the Whisky Ring.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—The Tribune's St. Louis special says the whisky ring of St. Louis has received a severe blow in the conviction of Colonel John A. Joyce, ex-revenue agent, upon an indictment for frauds in the revenue department. Joyce was the sharpest and boldest man in the ring, and the government authorities since the inception of the whisky suits have [illegible] stronger effort for his conviction than that of any other indicted official. He was found guilty on all four of the counts as charged in the indictment. The penalties on each count are imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than six months nor more than three years, or a fine of not less than $1,000 nor more than $5,000, and to be forever debarred from holding under the U. S. government any office of trust or profit. Colonel Joyce was placed in custody of the U. S. marshal after the jury rendered their verdict.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—A Washington special says the government authorities have received information that Joyce, ring leader of the whisky ring, has been found guilty on every count in the indictment. The officials here express much gratification at the result, as they admit that the evidence against him could not be impeached. Recently [illegible] had been made to government here by the St. Louis whisky ring which have served to explain the attitude of the ring to former federal officials in St. Louis. The distillers claim that they were grossly misled by the federal officials who managed the ring, that those persons pretended to have fixed everybody at Washington, from the highest to the lowest, [illegible] immunity from any violation of law, [illegible] that there would be no seizures, no arrests, no indictments, no punishment, and that upon the strength of these intimations [illegible] permitted themselves to be blackmailed for years without mercy. Several of these distillers have volunteered to turn State's evidence against the entire St. Louis ring, and to pay large sums to compromise if they can be saved from the penitentiary, but the secretary of the treasury is not disposed to entertain propositions for either compromise or lenience. A gauger has recently volunteered to turn State's evidence against a powerful firm, and his bondsmen have already given government very valuable information in its raid against the ring, but the request of this gauger has been refused. The total value of the property seized in St. Louis is $700,000. The amount of assessments on suits to recover taxes amounts to $448,000. The suits on gaugers' bonds aggregate $[illegible]; total $1,888,000.

Bullion for the Mint.

New York, Oct. 23.—The silver bullion received at the Philadelphia mint is partly from the Nevada mines and partly from the New York assay office, and comes in as rapidly as is required for coinage purposes. The assay office in New York supplies the mint with fine silver sufficient to insure the coinage of $1,000,000 a month in subsidiary silver coin. It is stated on the authority of the chief coiner that if the mint were worked to its full capacity it would turn out $[illegible] in small silver coin a day.

The Moody and Sankey Opening at Brooklyn.

New York, Oct. 24.—The first of the Moody and Sankey revival services was held at Brooklyn rink this morning. Fully [illegible] persons were waiting for the doors to be opened, and when services commenced the building was filled throughout. Moody taking his place on the rostrum at the edge of a large platform containing a chorus of [illegible], opened services by announcing the hymn commencing "Rejoice and be glad, the Redeemer has come," which was given with imposing effect by the chorus and congregation. Rev. Dr. [illegible] then prayed at considerable length and fervor that deeply moved the people. He prayed that as the tribes of Israel were now assembled before the Lord, He would signalize His acceptance of their homage and desire to glorify Him, and that the power of God would rest upon this assemblage with grace in every heart for our country's sake and for the world's sake. Sankey called on the people to sing heartily hymn 27, "Lord, I hear of showers of blessings." The singing by nearly 10,000 voices was magnificent. Sankey accompanied on the harmonium. Moody next read from 13 Numbers the account of sending spies to the promised land and the discouragement of the people at their report of the stature of the inhabitants. Moody delivered a discourse on the text as read. He spoke in a conversational way, sometimes humorous, sometimes impassioned, and always rapidly. He insisted that God had his own time for revivals, that the only obstacle to them was [illegible] within the church. He compared unbelievers and [illegible] to the spies and [illegible] believers to Caleb and Joshua, who relied upon goodness and the power of God. The time was come, he said, and if they only willed it they might go and take the promised land. In conclusion he advised that all dissentions be abandoned and all church barriers and every one [illegible] heartily to work. It was then announced that every night of the week except Saturday there would be service at [illegible] o'clock at the rink and every morning a prayer meeting at [illegible]. Among those on the platform were Rev. Dr. Cuyler, Rev. Dr. Duryea, Rev. Dr. [illegible], Rev. Dr. Budington, Rev. F. J. Haines, Rev. A. S. Hunt and George H. Stuart, the last named from Philadelphia. An afternoon service was held at the rink at [illegible] o'clock. The building was packed with people an hour before, and [illegible] were unable to gain admittance. [illegible] Mr. Sankey visited both of them [illegible] evening. In the rink there was as many in the morning. A large gathering of clergymen were on the platform, among them Rev. Dr. Budington [illegible].

The effect of the new order will be to make the drawback payable $1.73 per hundred pounds on refined hard sugar instead of $[illegible], and [illegible] less ten per cent [illegible] recently [illegible] order.

There are intimations that the President will take a very decided position in his message to congress with respect to the recognition of the Cuban belligerents. These rumors have their origin in sources friendly to the Cuban insurgents.

About the Currency.

The comptroller of the currency, in his forthcoming report, will make very few recommendations. It is expected all of the finance officers in treating of the last finance act will regard the silver resumption features of it as entirely impracticable.

Chandler will Kick Out those who Don't Pay Up.

Secretary Chandler left to-night for Michigan without making any changes in the Interior Department. It is certain a considerable number of Democratic clerks will be removed. There are in the patent office and pension bureau many clerks resident mostly in the district who have always been pronounced Democrats and who have led in opposition to the payment of the political assessments levied by the congressional committee.

The Next Wrong Proposed.

There is a prospect that the Indian service will be turned over to the War Department. When Chandler was in the senate he advocated such a change in more than one speech. Heretofore any move looking to this end was arrested by Delano and [illegible]. Now that they have been succeeded by a secretary who is too rich to desire to rob the Indians, [illegible] influence will be exerted to induce the new secretary to make this change a recommendation in his annual report.

The President Takes a little Rest.

The President, with Secretaries Belknap and Robeson and Postmaster Gen. Jewell, are spending the day with Jno. Wm. Garrett at his county seat near Baltimore.

A Ring on the Alabama Claims.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—A Washington special says an attempt will be made at the next congress to expose what is said to be a lawyer's ring in connection with the distribution of the Geneva award and the legislation past and prospective which affects that distribution. This effort, it is understood, will proceed from those who have a large personal stake in the distribution of the award and who consider that their rights have not hitherto been properly guarded by congress. It is said of the $[illegible] to be awarded under the present act, $4,000,000 have passed into the hands of this alleged ring.

How Chandler's Appointment is Received.

Statements have been put in circulation that at least three of the members of Grant's cabinet are disgusted at Mr. Chandler's appointment, and it has even been said there was a probability that one or more of them would resign in consequence. It is known to be true that Bristow and Pierrepont are not satisfied, and have expressed themselves to the effect that Chandler is no improvement on Delano. It is not likely that their dissatisfaction will induce them to go to the length of resigning.

The Southern California Indians.

Washington, Oct. 23.—B. I. Peel, of Los Angeles, on the [illegible] of Oct. addressed a letter to [illegible], former clerk of the Mission Indian Agency in California, expressing astonishment and disgust at the course of the government toward the Temecula Indians, pointing out their wrongs and concluding: "Can you not go to the department and get some aid for them? The cheapest thing that can be done is to buy them homes and give them to them. A [illegible] would accommodate them all." Indian Commissioner Smith replied agreeing with him as to the wrongs and asserting that the department has [illegible] necessary for their protection. The trouble is the disposition prevailing [illegible] the number of the class known as Indians [illegible] taxed at the expense of their citizenship and [illegible] all natural rights. They are now debarred legal ownership and [illegible] occupation by American citizens. The commissioner will urge congress to provide for the purchase of other satisfactory homes for the Temecula Indians.

The Fractional Currency.

Washington, Oct. 23.—The director of the mint has suggested the propriety of the treasury department making a careful estimate of the annual expense of preparing, issuing, redeeming, cancelling and renovating the fractional currency, also an estimate as to the average amount of such currency in course of transit to and from the treasury department and the average amount in the treasury undergoing examination preparatory to its cancellation [illegible] such examination. This information is necessary to correctly understand the comparative advantages as to the cost of issue and maintaining in good condition fractional silver and fractional paper currency respectively.

Trial of a Burglar.

Washington, Oct. 23.—In the criminal court to-day the cases of Charles G. Fisher, B. F. Leighton, Wm. M. Evans and John Green, indicted for conspiracy to secure the release of Snyder, the burglar, were taken up. The counsel for the defendants having failed in their efforts to require the government to elect on which of the three indictments they would ask the accused to plead, filed a plea in abatement challenging the array of the grand jury which found the indictments on the ground of illegality. The argument was postponed until Monday week.

The Treasury Robbers' Case.

In the case of Olteman, Pollock and Brown, charged with the robbery of $47,000 from the treasury, and who were in court, there was no definite action on the motion made by their counsel to require the government to elect which indictment they would call. The district commissioners to-day issued a warrant for [illegible].

The greater part of these have already been shipped to the fish commissioners of various states, to be by them hatched and placed in appropriate waters. Due provision will be made for a supply to the waters of every State. Large [illegible] have been sent [illegible] to be hatched out under the direction of the commission. San Francisco, Oct. 23.—The recent statement that the San Francisco board of brokers had passed resolutions forbidding transactions with members of the Pacific Exchange was premature. It was referred to a committee, to report in five days.

The Turf—Sunday Law.

Two races are advertised for to-morrow at Agricultural Park, on the Cliff House road. This is the first attempt in a long time to carry on racing on Sunday. The police announce a determination to arrest the patrons and participants.

Revenue and Pittsburg, two well known fast horses, are en route to California from the East. The former will be entered in the $30,000 race.

At the Bay District track to-day the four mile dash between Grinstead and Wildidle was won by the latter in 7:25.

The handicap of mile heats between [illegible], Amanda and Electra, was won by Amanda.

Rosewood won the race for two year olds.

The Case of Geo. M. Pinney.

The naval court of inquiry is still engaged in taking testimony in the Pinney case. It is reported that sufficient evidence has been obtained to warrant the calling of a courtmartial, in which case the proceedings will be public.

Rifle Shooting.

At the rifle range this afternoon the first part of the grand team match was shot at 200 yards. Twelve teams entered and good scores were made. The coming on of a fog prevented the completion of the match. At the 500 yard range Gov. Pacheco led off with ten shots, making a score of 29 out of a possible 50. The completion of the match is postponed till Monday at 1 P. M. The spirit manifested by the Sacramento and Stockton teams in going to the expense and trouble of attending this meeting was warmly commended by those present. The Stockton company was complimented by Colonel Shaw, president of the association, as being the only team on the ground fully equipped, as demanded by the regulations. At the present stage of the shooting the team of Company C of the First Regiment, known as the National Guard, is ahead, the Sumner Guard, the team of whom much was expected, appearing at some disadvantage.

Desperate Encounter with Robbers.

Salinas, Oct. 23.—Last night an attempt was made by three men to rob the coast line stage, while on its way down, at what is known as Last Chance Gulch, sixteen miles south of Soledad. A demand was made of the driver to pass out Wells, Fargo & Co.'s treasure box, accompanied with a threat that if he was not quick about it, he would get his brains blown out. The demand was complied with and the box thrown out, but they did not get away with it. A. W. Poole, resident of Salinas, was a passenger, but was not on the stage at the time. He was walking just behind the coach, and when one of the robbers stooped to take the box, Poole exclaimed, "Drop it, or you are a dead man." The robber immediately fired on him. Poole returned the fire, the robber falling over the bank into the gulch. Just then another of the robbers, who was standing in the shadow of some brush, fired at Poole, and then ran. Poole returned the fire, but with what effect is not known. It being very dark no attempt was made to follow them further than a hasty search in the gulch. Diligent search was made this morning and blood found staining the road and stones in the ravine. It is thought that one of the robbers was badly wounded.

UTAH.

Brigham and Ann Eliza.

Salt Lake, Oct. 23.—In accordance with the order issued last Monday by Judge Boreman, of the third district court, Brigham Young appeared in court at 10 A. M. to-day by his attorneys to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt in not paying $9,500 as ordered by Judge McKean as alimony pendente lite to Ann Eliza Young, plaintiff in this case. The court adjourned till next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, at which time Brigham Young is ordered to appear.

The Coos Bay Gold Mining Company, in [illegible] creek half a mile above its confluence with Rogue river, have discovered an extensive deposit of gravel that prospects three cents to the pan. J. M. Eberlein, of the Roseburg Company, operating in the same vicinity, is sanguine over recent developments; he is pushing operations with impetus that means business.

There are nine prisoners in the Kitsap county jail, five of them territorial.

OREGON.

Wheat is quoted at 80 cents a bushel in Albany.

The Eugene City library has increased its capital stock to $1,000.

Mr. Lowell, book agent, picked up down about Dixie a shell about as large as a man's fist, which seems to have petrified full of stone coal.

A man was fined $50 and costs last week at the Dalles for throwing pepper on a ball room floor just before the dancing was to have commenced.

A letter from Kerbyville, written by Mr. H. Woodcock, states that his son, aged 14, and a daughter aged 16, have killed two large panthers recently.

J. W. Watson, of Hood river, on the 14th inst. took from a swarm of bees 71 pounds of clean honey. The bees swarmed in June and were hived in a sugar barrel.

Since the completion of the Albany and Santiam canal all, or nearly all, the factories, mills, foundry and warehouses in Albany use water as power for propelling their machinery. That place boasts of more water wheels than any other city in the State.

The Monmouth Messenger says: "There is a running spring over on the Luckiamute upon which we saw oil in profusion. We see no reason why Oregon, which is so rich in everything else, should not have stored away in her stone coffers plenty of coal oil, and we think it probable that some of it will be found near this same spring."

At Roseburg, in the circuit court last week, one of the jurors, in a case which was being tried, took sick and was excused, when one of the by standers stepped up to the sheriff and requested that he be put in his place, "for," says he, "I have heard every bit of the evidence and know I can give a true and impartial decision in the case. Won't you get me the place?"

The Salem Mercury says: "Wheat is not coming in very fast now, and the long lines of farmers' wagons which a few weeks ago were winding their way into town and bringing in the golden grains of the harvest field are now taking a rest. At the Farmers' Warehouse in this city there are about 40,000 bushels already stored, and the company has contracts with the farmers of this vicinity to deliver several thousand bushels more. Some of the latter have from 1,500 to 2,000 bushels still on hand, and will deliver it at the warehouse after the fall sowing. The present price is 85 cents per bushel, but the company is not anxious to buy. They have shipped about 6,000 bushels to Corbitt & Macleay, and their contract with this firm calls for about 1,000 bushels more. No shipments have been made from the warehouse for about ten days, but as soon as the river rises shipping will be lively. The receipts have averaged about 600 bushels a day for the past fortnight."

The Astorian says: "Clatsop county abounds in precious metals. There is indubitably evidence of the existence here of rock which furnishes the purest and best quality of cements and porcelain, also iron, coal, and we think gold and silver. Neglected in the past, set to one side, as it were, by ignoring people of our own State, only considered as a way station at which the passing commerce of the country would call for the minor details of business, Astoria has been carelessly looked upon, and the development of the surrounding country has been in the hands of the 'noble few.' But a better day is dawning. The Kaoline mine near the seaside is about to change hands, and will be developed; the long, embarrassed and labored efforts of Prof. Frank Hopkinson are about to redound to that degree of credit the old man is so richly deserving of in the production of cement superior to the best European quality; the patient toils of Mr. Luke Taylor as a prospector for precious ledges of rock are just about to be rewarded; the experiments in coal developments look hopeful; and the late survey of public lands in this vicinity have undoubtedly revealed the place of iron deposits in vast quantities; the timber and brush lands are being sought after by men of a practical turn of mind, and, taken altogether, we think Astoria and Clatsop county never before had brighter prospects for future development."

THE TERRITORIES.

Everything in the shape of a residence at Seattle is crowded to its utmost capacity, and the constant demand is for more.

Hon. O. Jacobs, M. C., started for Washington last week, to attend to the business of Washington Territory as delegate.

The Oregon Presbytery is to convene at Seattle this week for the transaction of Presbyterian business in its relation to the world.

The Hale passed through the draw of the Marshfield bridge at Olympia on the 21st inst., bound for Tumwater, with 20,000 bushels of wheat for W. F. Crosby, of the Lincoln mills.

Not less than $100,000 worth of oysters will be sold from the Shoalwater Bay beds this season, the gathering and moving of them forming one of the chief industries of the Territory.

The farmers on the Skagit, encouraged by the success attending those on the Puyallup, have gone into the business of raising hops. The first installment of their crop, consisting of 25 bales, has been shipped.

A school teacher is wanted at Snohomish City, and the directors of the district are prepared to receive and pass upon propositions. No distinctions as to sex or locality will be made for or against applicants.

Samuel Sims, a young man 18 years of age, has mysteriously disappeared from Silver City, and at first it was thought he had been foully dealt with, but as his horse and baggage are missing, and as he owed a number of bills, it is now believed he has taken French leave.

On Tuesday night, the 12th inst., a Chilian, who worked on the edger at Port Madison Mills, met with a severe and painful accident. Whilst hoisting a large 12 inch bolt on to the table, the hooks slipped and falling, the bolt came down on his feet, crushing them dreadfully.

The largest saw log ever got out at Snohomish was hauled on Blackman's car and put in the boom last Friday. It was 24 feet long and 66 inches in diameter at the small end. It was calculated by the Scribner scale to contain 4,500 feet of lumber, and estimated to weigh 15 tons.

The recent government survey of Puyallup river from the forks to its mouth shows that by the outlay of a few thousands of dollars, it can be made navigable for small steamers at all seasons of the year as far up as the mouth of Stuck river and to a distance of twenty five miles or more in the winter.

The Astorian says: "The late heavy tides are washing Fort Stevens away rapidly. Unless congress is appealed to, and takes some action on this subject the coming winter, the south entrance to the Columbia river will be damaged and the property of the government be nearly destroyed."

Hon. T. M. Reed and party returned to Olympia from the islands a few days ago, where he has been finishing a contract of surveys on government land. Surveys were made on Cyprus, Blakely and other islands, eleven in number. This contract completes the survey of nearly all the islands of the San Juan Archipelago worth surveying.

A letter from Deer Lodge, Montana, dated October 1st, says: "The farmers are just commencing to thrash. Wheat is worth $1 per bushel and oats 54 cents. There are as fine farms in the Deer Lodge valley as I would wish to see, and no end to grass. Several large bands of sheep have been driven in this summer. One man sold his entire band of 900 head at $3 50 per head. Sheep here are fat and healthy. Good fat beef cattle can be had at from $15 to $20 per head. Good milk cows rate higher. Butter 50 cents per pound. Groceries are about 25 per cent. higher than below. Everybody is looking forward to the good time coming with the railroad. There is considerable excitement in the mining regions, and several quartz mills going up, with plenty of room for more."

DANIEL O'CONNELL.

The following article from a late number of the Nation will repay perusal:

The celebration of the hundredth anniversary of O'Connell's birthday by Irishmen in various parts of the world has naturally been enthusiastic. His fame is one which Time only enlarges and confirms. The memory of his defects of method, which were very numerous and striking, of course has passed away with the generation which witnessed them. What the present generation knows of him and remembers is that he found the Irish Catholics in a position of great political degradation, and that he emancipated them, and that he began the conflict against the most tremendous odds when he was still a young man, and had won the day before he was fifty, though in winning it he had to attack the most stolid and self-satisfied and imperious race in the world in their very dearest and most deeply rooted prejudices, and to attack them too with nothing but his tongue. It was a great victory, there is no denying. Never yet in the history of peaceful agitation has one man done so much, for O'Connell was himself the Catholic movement. If he had been taken out of it after the first small meeting, there would have been nothing left of it, and Emancipation would have come rather from the slow development of the [illegible] than in the nobler and better way, from the struggles of the Irish Catholics themselves.

But then time does not do as much for his work as it does for his memory. Since his day, Ireland has played a considerable part in European politics; before his day, little or nothing was known of it beyond the fact that it was a discontented and powerless province of Great Britain. Cold criticism has, therefore, inevitably taken the place of respectful sympathy. From admiring the great thing which O'Connell did people have taken to asking, "What is the value of the new element which he has introduced into British politics? What has been the nature of its influence on the march of European and American affairs?" for its influence has been felt on this side of the water as well as on the other. Political and social progress, people remember sadly as well as joyfully, did not cease with the passage of the emancipation act by the British parliament. There was still a world of work to be done on the Continent as well as in England before the cause of civil and religious liberty could be said to be fully triumphant. There were innumerable social problems to be solved, too, all of which needed all the care and judgment that Christendom could supply. The Irish Catholics appeared on the scene as speakers, writers and legislators, just as the ideas which had been suppressed by nearly forty years of war and tumult, were again beginning to find expression and to fill the world with a strange but not ungrateful impatience and foreboding. People, therefore, who are neither Irishmen nor Catholics say, when they are called on to clap hands because O'Connell was born 100 years ago, something of this sort: "With the emancipated Irish Catholic we are very familiar. There are few parts of the world in which he is not now to be found; and wherever he is, he is apt to make his presence known. We are glad that Daniel O'Connell was successful in liberating him, because we are sure, from all we hear, that his condition before emancipation was degrading. Emancipation was, therefore, very well as far as it went; but then it did not make the world perfect. A great deal had to be done after O'Connell's death, even for religious liberty; and before we begin our rejoicings over O'Connell's birthday, we should like, for the better regulation of our enthusiasm, to be informed what kind of part the school of politicians which O'Connell founded, and which received his maxims and traditions, has played in the work of political and religious progress. You must excuse us, but we have got over the idea we once had, that when you hear that a man is free you need ask no more about him. We have been taught by bitter experience that it is also necessary to ask what use he has made of his freedom. We must, therefore, inquire what sort of contributions Irish Catholics have made to the work in which we are all engaged and how far their teachings have prepared or prompted them to become in all lands the friends of the causes which we, as liberal and progressive men, have most at heart, before we join you to the full extent in your rejoicings, and yet we do not deny that your hero was a great man."

Nor is this by any means an unreasonable view to take of O'Connell's responsibility. He could not have been expected suddenly to make the Irish Catholics austere and astute politicians of the Anglo Saxon type. He could not change their history or their traditions or their temperament, nor could he probably have secured from them the support which he received in the earlier portion of his career, had he been a man of finer fibre, or nicer taste, or more delicate conscience. He was rough, but he had rough work to do. He might have employed rhetorical weapons which would have had more weight in the House of Commons than the somewhat ruffianly invective in which he shone and habitually indulged, but then he spoke for Kerry and Sligo more than for Westminster, and he never could have made the hearts of his constituents throb with phrases which London drawing-rooms would have pardoned or admired. But then, when Emancipation was secured and his triumph left him in possession of power which any monarch in Europe might have envied, and gave him the hearts of many millions as hearts have perhaps never before been given to man, he deliberately and with set purpose proceeded to use it to strengthen and perpetuate the influence of the Catholic clergy over the masses whom he had brought on the stage of political life, and whose political prophet he was. There is no doubt he was himself a devout Catholic and that when he beslavered the "venerated clergy" with his praises in Conciliation Hall he felt all he said. He was doubtless conscientious in his efforts to preserve their place for them in Irish politics and to exalt it, and to give Irish politics an ecclesiastical hue, and make the Church a prime object of national concern, and to discourage purely secular ways of looking at things. But then his sincerity made his influence on the course of Irish political thought none the less hurtful. It preserved and stimulated that unfortunate tendency—which was natural and useful enough in the earlier stage of political development in which O'Connell found his Catholic countrymen, but which, when fairly admitted to the community of European nations, was a heavy burden and impediment—the tendency to act as a clan, through chiefs or tribunes like O'Connell himself, and to leave to them the work of thinking and deciding. It helped to perpetuate the separation of the Irish Catholics from their Protestant countrymen, which has been to them the cause of unutterable woes and has made their country a den in which the beasts of religious fanaticism, after being driven from every other civilized country in Europe, have found a refuge. It prevented them, too—which was also a great misfortune—from obtaining their legitimate weight and influence in either the British Parliament or any other deliberative assembly in which the leading political races in our day have a majority, for a party which has a priest behind it is now in every parliament in the world hated and distrusted and despised.

Though last not least, it cut them off from political communion with the great Liberal party in all European countries, and has made them the bitter enemies of the movement which, in spite of many mistakes and drawbacks, has for fifty years made European politics a steady march towards a sounder and more enlightened policy—the movement which has given us a new Italy, a new Germany, a new Austria, and which, unless all signs fail, will give us, before long, a new France and a new Spain. Everywhere Irish Catholics have been found among its bitterest enemies, and it is characteristic and significant that the attempt to celebrate the hundredth anniversary of O'Connell's birthday in Dublin should have been a clerical affair with a strong Ultramontane tinge, and that the proceedings should have been marked by a succession of fights, and that the banquet should have ended in a riot which was only quelled by turning off the gas. We mention the fight and the riot not in jest, but in sober earnest, as illustrations of the points on which O'Connell's influence was defective. It was in no sense steadying. It did nothing towards the cultivation of a political sense or of a national public opinion. It did nothing for tolerance, for mutual forbearance and the openness to conviction, for the regard for experience, which are the only sure foundations of modern states. It did nothing to bring Ireland into the European commonwealth, or to bring Irishmen into true sympathy with the best tendencies of the time. The result is that Irish Catholics form everywhere a party to themselves, the wires of which are pulled more or less at Rome, and which circulates the Encyclical with more or less publicity as a serious political document, and which never sees politics as what it really is—not a picnic, or a jollification, or a high mass, but a piece of business as dry and laborious as book-keeping and as solemn and momentous as war. The Irishman who will deliver his countrymen from their subjection to the church, and at the same time teach them the value in politics of sober mindedness and the dangers of over-cultivation of the imagination, will do for them far more than O'Connell did; but such an Irishman has yet to show himself. The figures they cut in this country as the tools of demagogues like Butler and Banks, and the blessed and tickled [illegible] of [illegible] rhetoricians like Mr. Phillips, are in fact melancholy illustrations of the smallness of the results which O'Connell accomplished.

VOTE.

Don't let your business keep you from the polls to-day, and don't let any foolish partisan prejudice keep you from voting for the tried and true man and faithful and efficient public servant Hon. Henry Warren.

A LARGE REVIEW OF A SMALL WORK.

An anonymous batch of falsehoods over the signature "INDEPENDENT" has been issued in the form of a three column circular "To the Voters of Oregon," ostensibly for the purpose of securing votes for Whitney, but really for the purpose of helping to elect Lane. The document contains no mark by which it can be ascertained from what source it sprang or under which auspices it is circulated, but is generally supposed to be an emanation from the Temperance Star office—if that journalistic fraud has an office. They say that some 8,000 copies of the circular have been circulated secretly, that is sent to persons belonging to a particular set, with instructions to hand them round to such persons as are all right and can be trusted, but not to let them get into the hands of the general public till it is too late to answer the falsehoods it contains before the election. That is a good joke on the publishers, though it will hardly be a very successful fraud on the voters. How is the public mind to be influenced by a paper which the public is not allowed to see? The idea of the secret circulation of a newspaper or campaign document is certainly original.

The burden of this precious missive to all the voters of Oregon who "are all right and can be trusted," is that the Independents have been sold out, the alleged parties to the bargain being the "Corbett crowd," whatever that may include, and the "Custom House Ring," and the High Joint Commissioners of the respective high contracting parties who are said to have negotiated the trade are H. W. Scott and Medorem Crawford on behalf of the Custom House Ring, and H. Y. Thompson, W. Lair Hill, Henry L. Pittock, Rufus Mallory and Ben Underwood on behalf of the "Corbett crowd." That is rather a singular mixing of names to be sure, but that is the way the anonymous circular puts it up. To treat the matter with perfect fairness, however, it should be stated that the only intelligible statement of the part that Underwood and Mallory played in the business, is merely that they seduced Whitney into engaging in the deceitful trick by which he attempted to secure two nominations, but simply lost the one he had; and the only reference to the side these two individuals represented is, that they were "Hill and Thompson's partners."

But the author of this circular, doubtless realizing the intrinsic improbability of the story, proceeds to adduce and array in regular order the evidence upon which he bases his conclusion that the Independents were sold out and that, too, by the parties above named. This evidence may be summed up as follows:

1st. Somebody has said that Scott wanted to get into the editorial chair of the OREGONIAN. It must be admitted that this is rather indefinite as well as somewhat weak in the matter of authenticity, and when taken in connection with the fact that the event to secure which Mr. Scott entered into the bargain did not come to pass, that branch of the case can scarcely said to be proved beyond a reasonable doubt. But it is well enough proved for the kind of people who got up the document under examination.

2d. Scott brought ex-Appraiser Medorem Crawford. It is not very apparent what it was that Scott brought Crawford into, but as that is all there is as to Crawford's part in the transaction, it must be accepted as sufficient.

3d. Scott has frequently been seen having private conversations with Henry L. Pittock. That clinches the matter so far as Scott and Pittock are concerned. It is true, they have had business relations with each other for nearly twelve years and still own property together and that they never had any personal difference; but for two persons so situated to converse with each other is proof positive that a job is putting up, for men never speak to one another except when putting up jobs, as everybody knows. At any rate this evidence must be accepted as conclusive in the present case, for there is none other to offer, and the case must be proved somehow.

And here we take leave of Scott, Crawford and Pittock, nothing further being offered [illegible] their connection with the [illegible].

4th. Hill and Thompson in the late [illegible] convention would not consult with other delegates. We have no idea what particular consultation with other delegates is referred to as having been [illegible]. Possibly some ring of the delegates having a job of their own to put up on the rest of the delegates sought the co-operation of these two individuals and failing to get the encouragement and assistance desired went off and made complaint about it. No sensible person will say that it was so, however, nor will any body say the other delegates were a majority [illegible] Hill and Thompson did not take care of them, which of course they were expected to do; they could [illegible] of themselves.

5th. Hill and Thompson voted for Somebody other instead of Whitney in the [illegible] ... But it must be [illegible] the expr[illegible] ... [illegible] these wicked persons for another candidate, a well known Independent and one of the ablest and [illegible] the State [illegible] Whitney, who was formerly a Republican politician [illegible] ... [illegible] the Independents [illegible] ... corru[illegible] the Independents.

This closes the evidence in the case, and no candid mind looking all these damning facts and circumstances in the face will hesitate to declare that the charge is proved as clearly and incontestably as that two and two make four.

And now, having made sure of every [illegible], the author of the circular proposes to have the benefit of that verdict in the election. He proceeds, therefore, by some method that is not exactly clear to persons unaccustomed to his mode of reasoning, to the conclusion that as a result of this Whitney should be voted for by the people, meaning we take it all the people who want to see Lane elected and lack the courage to support him directly. The immediate links by which this conclusion is connected with the fact of sale already proved are alleged to be (1) that Hill and Thompson were the first persons who gave the public the report that Whitney had withdrawn, and (2) that in fact Whitney's dispatch to Jason Owens, saying he accepted the Independent nomination only on condition of his getting the Republican nomination too, was a falsehood.

It seems to us this is an unfortunate way of fastening conclusions to premises. The statement as to who first circulated the report of Whitney's withdrawal, though of no importance in the case, deserves notice for another reason, however. [illegible] falsehood, and the chairman of the Independent Central Committee, who was present at the time, and at all the times, knows it to be such.

And as to the other fact, namely that Whitney's dispatch to Jason Owens was a falsehood and a fraud, it is difficult to see how that can entitle Whitney to any exceptionally exalted place in the public esteem. Since, however, everything in the logic of this circular goes by contraries, like the interpretations of Rory O'More's dream, the conclusion that a man is entitled to the support of the people because he made an unsuccessful attempt by the bungling trick of a false dispatch to cozen two conventions into nominating him can hardly be considered inconsistent, though it may be altogether illogical.

We have paid vastly more attention to this batch of falsehoods, whose author is ashamed to own it, than it would merit even if it had a responsible paternity and had found its way to the public in a respectable way and in time to be read before the election. But we propose to add this additional paragraph in order to do an act of justice to a personal friend. We allude to Joseph Buchtel, Chairman of the Independent State Central Committee. Persons who are engaged in circulating the circular, desiring to give it the entree into respectable society, are telling around that it is issued under his direction. We have not asked him as to the truth of that statement, for we do not wish to insult him; but we pronounce any and all statements connecting his name with it unauthorized by him and false, for the reason that we know that he has personal knowledge that some of the statements in the circular are bold untruths, and we believe him to be an honorable man and therefore above the dirty work of issuing or countenancing a batch of falsehoods, to accomplish any object however desirable. Besides, he is not wanting in moral courage, and would not hide behind an anonymous signature, as the sneak has done who sends out this circular for circulation among persons of the right kind who can be trusted."

CHANDLER'S COMMENCEMENT.

We presume nobody will be surprised to read in the dispatches that the respectable members of the Cabinet are dissatisfied with the appointment of Zach Chandler as Secretary of the Interior. Nor will any one who has paid attention to the course of the blood-letting statesman be astonished at the announcement of his purpose further to disgust decent people and disgrace the Administration by dismissing those clerks in his Department who have had the courage to refuse payment of the scandalous assessment levied for election purposes by the Congressional Republican Committee. It is like Chandler, unless his reputation is a great libel upon his character. The compulsory raising of a corruption fund off the employes of the Government is in perfect keeping with the past history of the crowd with whom he has hitherto consorted and doubtless with his own practices. If he can carry out this infamous business and afterwards be confirmed as Secretary of the Interior by the Senate of the United States, the time has not yet come for those Republicans who ceased their affiliation with the party to relax their efforts. Such shameless corruptionists must be stopped or they will undermine and ultimately overthrow the government itself. If the Ohio election is construed as a license from the people for this sort of thing, the people will not fail to demonstrate in the Centennial election of President how greatly their action in Ohio has been misunderstood.

The recklessness of the Literary [illegible] with regard to the truth or falsity of its statements has become so notorious that it seems a work of supererogation to call attention to any misrepresentation it may make. Still it requires but little space to correct its repeated misstatements as to the cost of building the Post Office and U. S. Custom House in this city. The Journal has stated many times that the building cost $500,000. The exact cost, including everything, as shown by the records is $[illegible] but over $[illegible]000 less than the Journal['s] [illegible]. That however is not an uncommonly wide [illegible] for the Journal to make.

We [illegible] a letter from M. Minto [illegible] the Ad[illegible] paper and [illegible] of Mr. Lane. The letter is rather too long for publication, as much of it is applicable only before the election and the time is nearly past to accomplish much in that direction. The writer but expresses the opinion of all whom we have heard speak on the subject, when he says the course of the [illegible] is exceedingly unwise and injurious to the cause of temperance which it wishes to promote.

"ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?"

GILROY, March 1, 1875.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: In an experience of three years with the Averill Chemical Paint more than one half the jobs have chalked, peeled or cracked off, notwithstanding the Paint was warranted to do neither, and out of sixteen failures the "California Chemical Paint Company" have refused to furnish Paint to repaint but six of the sixteen. I refer to the following houses that have cracked, peeled and chalked off in this place: James Corey, H. C. Morey, M. D., Thomas Barrough, E. J. Bryant, E. H. Farmer, Frank Oldham, J. H. Trickey, G. Woodward, Thomas Rea, P. Ball, D. Whitley, William Wilson, J. M. Elliott, E. B. Hitchcock, J. A. Baxter, Music Hall, Catholic Church, and I might mention many more. J. B. RHINEHART, Painter.

23 POST ST., SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11, 1874.

To Proprietors Chemical Paint Company—Gents: I had my house in Oakland painted with your paint. It was warranted to be good and satisfactory in every respect. I was obliged to have the third coat put on to make it look as if it had been really painted, and even then I think one good coat of Lead Paint would have given the house a better appearance. I think you ought to make up to me the loss I sustained, besides the annoyance I felt knowing that an inferior article had been put on when a No. 1 article had been promised. Hoping to hear from you soon on the subject, I remain,

Yours resp'y, DR. HENRY KNOX,
Dentist, 23 Post street, San Francisco.

GILROY, Sept. 4, 1875.

To whom it may concern: Seeing in various papers that the California Chemical Paint Company continue to deceive people by saying that the Averill paint will neither peel, crack nor chalk off, I deem it my duty to say that my house, painted with the above named paint in the fall of 1873, failed in less than eighteen months after being painted by peeling, cracking and chalking off in the worst manner imaginable. I also observe that the company have my name in their printed matter as reference; this was done without my knowledge or consent. E. J. BRYANT.

GILROY, March 1875.

To whom it may concern: My house, painted with the Averill Chemical Paint in June 1873, failed in a little over one year after being painted by chalking, peeling, wasting and changing color, some light color and some dark. The California Chemical Paint Company are knowing to this, and yet continue to deceive the public by saying that the Averill Paint will not peel, crack nor chalk. THOMAS BARTOUGH.

GILROY, Sept. 4, 1875.

To whom it may concern: My house, painted with the Averill Chemical Paint, manufactured by the California Chemical Paint Company of San Francisco, [illegible] two years ago, failed in less than one year after it was painted, by chalking off and changing color, and I had a portion of it repainted. J. B. TRICKEY.

GILROY, Sept. 4, 1875.

To whom it may concern: I had my house painted in the fall of 1874 with the Averill Chemical Paint which was represented not to chalk, peel or crack off, but it chalked off in three months after it was painted. P. BALL.

Then Use the "Rubber Paint,"

The Best Paint in the World.

SAN JOSE, Cal., March 20, 1875.

Pacific Rubber Paint Company, San Francisco—Gentlemen: I have used and sold the Rubber Paint in this city during the last four years. We have about one hundred buildings painted with the Rubber Paint. Among the prominent ones are the State Normal School, Gates Institute, City Market, the residence of Josiah Belden, J. W. Hinds, President Gold Note Bank, J. R. Arguello, Santa Clara, etc. It has never failed to give satisfaction with a test of from one to four years, so that its durability has been well tested. My sales last year were nearly five thousand gallons.

Truly yours, AMASA EATON.

OAKLAND, Cal., March 22, 1875.

Pacific Rubber Paint Company—Gents: My residence painted with the Rubber Paint about eight months ago, so far has proved all you claim for it. It is as bright and beautiful as when finished.

Yours, etc., WALLACE EVERSON.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22, 1875.

Pacific Rubber Paint Company—Gentlemen: I have used your Rubber Paint on my yacht, thus far the action of the water has had no effect upon it, so far as my experience goes the Rubber Paint is the best paint ever used for painting vessels, especially in salt water. It adheres firmly to the wood, does not peel, and retains its gloss.

CAPT. EDWIN MOODY.

ALVARADO, Cal., June 10, 1875.

Pacific Rubber Paint Company—Gents: We the undersigned, interested parties in the Odd Fellows Hall, [illegible] feel it a duty as well as a pleasure to say to you that we are highly pleased not only with the appearance of the Rubber Paint on our hall, but think it at least [illegible] cheaper than any paint we could have used, and we also recommend it to all as a [illegible] other paint as regards its covering and spreading qualities.

MONDAY MORNING OCTOBER 25 1875

CITY.

DEMOCRATIC MASS MEETING.—Last Saturday evening the Democrats of this city held a mass meeting at Oro Fino theater, as the final blow of the political campaign, which has been brought to a close. As early as 7 o'clock the Portland city band began to discourse music on the balcony in front of the theater, and sky rockets were sent whizzing through the air. Posters had been stuck up in conspicuous places about the city and the announcement made through the daily papers to the effect that Gov L. F Grover and Hon J. K. Luttrell congressman from California were expected to be present and address the meeting. Soon after 7 o'clock a human tide commenced to pour into the building, and in the course of twenty minutes the large auditorium was crowded. A few minutes before 8 o'clock the president of the meeting Dr J C Hawthorne and the speakers of the evening Governor Grover and Mr Luttrell made their appearance on the stage. The gentlemen were received with loud and prolonged applause. The recognition was very hearty and must have been flattering in the extreme to those for whom it was intended. One gentleman arose when the applause ceased and proposed three cheers for Gov Grover which were given with great gusto. Three cheers were proposed for Hon J. K. Luttrell and given with a hearty will. E. A. Cronin Esq then made his appearance on the stage and after making a few brief remarks introduced Gov Grover, the first speaker of the evening. Gov. Grover addressed the meeting for nearly an hour. His remarks were confined principally to the subjects of finances, tariff and the public schools. He was frequently interrupted with applause. "Hail Columbia" was rendered by the band in a dashing style after Gov Grover had resumed his seat. When the music ceased Mr. Luttrell arose and came forward to address the meeting. Cheers and thunderous applause greeted him and it was some time before the speaker could proceed. Mr Luttrell, physically speaking, is a tall well formed man, with peculiar and strongly marked features. His voice is strong—neither harsh nor musical—well modulated and can be heard distinctly to the furthermost limit of a very large hall. Before an audience he appears self possessed and at perfect ease. He speaks very rapidly, directly to the point, not employing any circumlocution, and does not fail to impress the listeners with the boldness of his language and the earnestness of his manner and purpose. While it can be truthfully claimed that Mr. Luttrell is not an orator in the highest sense of the word—rarely ever rising to the heights of eloquence—yet it must be admitted that there is a fearless and aggressive style about his mode of speaking which impresses the most apathetic listener, if it does not challenge his admiration. He exercises rare power over an audience, securing and holding their earnest and undivided attention. From his standpoint Mr. Luttrell seems to be a thorough master of the situation, and his remarks produced a marked effect by reason of the familiarity which the speaker displayed with his subject in all its bearings and relations. Mr Luttrell spoke two hours and five minutes, during which he proceeded to arraign the present administration, and discourse upon the alleged peculations and corrupt practices of the Republican party. His speech embodied a large amount of statistical and [illegible] testimony, which was dwelt upon at length and much in detail. In the course of his lengthy remarks, the speaker reviewed the several great political topics of the day [illegible] tariff and reform. Much of the time [illegible], however, was devoted to [illegible] the alleged corruption pervading the various departments of the government—custom house, postal, military, navy, Indian service, etc. At the conclusion of his speech, Mr. Luttrell advised all who had at heart the interests of the State, to go to the polls to-day and cast their ballots for Lane. Three cheers were given for the speaker when [illegible] the crash of band music, the large [illegible] filed out of the building and the Democratic mass meeting was a thing of the past.

CAPT. SLADEN'S CONDITION.—A telegraphic [illegible] was received here on Saturday by Gen. Howard, from Walla Walla, containing the [illegible] intelligence that the injuries received some days ago by Capt J. A Sladen, of [illegible] staff, were of a character rendering the amputation of the limb absolutely necessary, in order to save the unfortunate man's life. As has been previously announced, Capt [illegible] was thrown from a horse about two weeks ago and sustained a severe fracture of the right femur. Prompt surgical attention was rendered and the fractured bone set, but owing to the nature of the injuries, the ends failed to unite. Inflammation set in, and the [illegible] being unable to abate it, mortification [illegible] set in, which rendered immediate amputation imperatively necessary to save the officer's life. This unpleasant state of facts was telegraphed to Gen. Howard, who started at once for Walla Walla, accompanied by Dr Bailey, surgeon and medical director of the department. Intelligence was received late in the afternoon, and as it was a case of life and death, not an hour was to be lost. No regular [illegible] as a matter of course, would make a trip up to the Cascades at that hour, so the fleet steamer Bonita was engaged expressly to convey Gen. Howard and Dr Bailey to that point. With Captain John Wolf at the wheel the [illegible] left Portland at 7 o'clock P M, and [illegible] the Cascades before midnight. Above the [illegible] the cars and steamer Daisy Ains were in waiting. The portage was made and by 4 o'clock yesterday morning the two [illegible] reached The Dalles. Here a car was in [illegible] and in a few minutes they were whirled through to Celilo, and soon found themselves on a steamer bound for Wallula. These gentlemen were hurried through with all possible dispatch, and it was expected that they would reach the bedside of the suffering officer some time during Sunday night. Immediately upon arriving at Walla Walla Dr Bailey, assisted by several other surgeons are expected to perform the required operation. Captain Sladen, we much regret to state, is in a very critical condition, and there are chances [illegible] his recovery. Every possible attention is being bestowed, and all the most experienced and competent medical aid employed to bring him safely through. That officer's friends will be pained to learn of his great misfortune and danger.

JOHN ON THE WAR PATH.—On Saturday forenoon quite an excitement was created on Front street, between Stark and Oak by a combat between four Chinamen in which three were apparently making an effort to carve the fourth into infinitesimal pieces. Just what the origin of the trouble was is not known, but one who has been arrested assigns [illegible] for the assault that the 'John' who was beset by the other three was owing one of them a sum of money. At any rate, the alleged debtor was roughly used and had not an interference taken place his brains would probably now be undergoing preparation for shipment to the Flowery Kingdom. As it was he received three cuts with a knife under the jaw, another just below the ear and a third on the left side near where the short rib joins the vertebral column. His wounds were hardly considered dangerous at first, but yesterday evening he was pronounced in a precarious condition. When parties came to the rescue the assaulting trio fled and two of them made their escape, while the third was captured and is in jail. It is believed that one of those escaping is concealed in the Chinese rookeries on Second street south of Oak and the police are watching his lair closely and may yet secure his presence at the investigation to take place to-morrow of what may turn out to be a murder case. The one arrest is believed to have used the knife but the two others are at least guilty as accomplices.

PASSENGERS.—The steamer [illegible] sailed from San Francisco for Portland on Saturday forenoon bringing the following passengers: Ben. Holladay Jr, W C Orear and wife, J Levy, M Solomon, H Watkins, J R Cory, W. J Farnsworth, G H Clarke, I A [illegible], Wm Ewing, H S Ewing, R S Vellers, Newberg, J W Cook, P J Charlebois, A J Conger and wife, Kate I Buckley, [illegible], I N Edwards, G W Newman, J Mc[illegible], Geo Clarke, W W Shaw, G Lantrow, C Flora, J Metzger, Mrs. A Peter and child, L [illegible] and family, Rev J [illegible], Rev J Fraser, L J Cramer and wife, J [illegible] and wife, W. F. West, G W Schele, J Desmond, J P Collins, P Jay, M Williams, Lant Batchelder, M [illegible] and family, N K. West and family, M S A [illegible], M S Splnk and child, J C Davis and wife, J T Kegnston and wife, [illegible] Clapp and wife, C F Thomas and wife, W H Adams and wife, B Yelland, [illegible], D W Lowell.

NEARLY A FIRE.—About 5 o'clock last evening an alarm of fire was sounded from box No 12. With that degree of alacrity for which the department is proverbial the engines responded to the call of danger. Fortunately however there was no necessity for the department being brought into requisition. The alarm was occasioned by the explosion of an oil lamp at the grocery store at the corner of Salmon and Second streets. The proprietor was engaged in filling the lamps used about the store when one burst. Instantly the contents were ignited and scattered about the room in all directions. Officer Hamilton was standing at the corner of Taylor and Second streets at the time and observing the interior of the grocery store suddenly illuminated he started toward the spot to ascertain the occasion of the light. Before reaching the scene a man rushed out of the store and shouted fire. Hamilton turned and running down to box No 12 gave the alarm. A number of persons seeing the light and hearing shouts of fire rushed into the building and by making vigorous efforts succeeded in subduing the incipient conflagration before the engines arrived. It was a very narrow escape and nothing but prompt and fearless action saved the city a destructive fire.

CHILD DROWNED.—It becomes a painful duty to announce the death by accidental drowning of Willie a little son of W T Iverson, the well known engineer of Willamette Engine Co No 1. The child was drowned about 5 o'clock Saturday evening at Cedar Mills seven miles from the city. Mr and Mrs Iverson were visiting the father and mother of the former at the time of the sad bereavement. The house is situated on the bank of the stream and adjacent to the mill pond. Late in the afternoon Willie left the house unobserved and wandered away along the brink of the pond. While playing at the edge of the water the child lost its balance, and falling head first into the pond was drowned. Search was made when the boy was missed, but the body was not recovered and restored to the grief stricken parents until about 9 o'clock in the evening. The child lacked only two months of being four years old when its untimely end was met. The parents have the sincere sympathies of a large circle of friends in their bereavement. Funeral obsequies will take place this afternoon at Cedar Mills.

A MERITED PROMOTION.—In the Buffalo (N Y) Commercial Advertiser of a late date we find the following in relation to Colonel H C Hodges formerly stationed at Vancouver: By special orders No 139 from the war department, just issued, the special order of Feb 24 1875, is so far modified as to direct Major Geo B Dandy quartermaster, to report to the commanding general of the military division of the Atlantic for assignment to relieve Major H C Hodges quartermaster of his duties at Buffalo, N Y, Oct 25, 1875. By the terms of the same order Col Hodges is ordered to report for duty in the quartermaster general's office at Washington Nov 1st. The same paper adds: It is regarded among army officers as a high honor to be assigned to duty at the Washington office of a department and Col Hodges is therefore to be congratulated. He has filled the office of quartermaster here since April last and during his residence among us has made many friends who will be pleased to learn of his preferment, though sorry to lose him from Buffalo.

WHITWORTH SHELL.—A six pound specimen of this destructive weapon of war has been placed in the Museum. The ship Blanche brought out a large number for the British service at Victoria, and a few were found in the vessel when she discharged her ballast here. It is made of wrought iron with a steel point for the purpose of penetrating any object it may be fired at. This shell has displaced all others in the British service, and the specimen above mentioned is said to be the only one brought to this city.

THE SONG SERVICE.—The friends of the Song Service must certainly have been gratified at the immense audience that greeted Prof McGibeny and family in their new quarters last evening. The exercises passed off in their usual hearty and entertaining style, giving much pleasure to all. The original poem "The Demon's Victim," recited by its author R C White richly deserved the hearty applause it received. Success to the Song Service is the wish of many.

This is no sham sale as Mr [illegible] is going out of the picture business. There are a great many choice pieces in the stock, which should be examined before the sale. In fact, it is quite a treat for the ladies and gentlemen of Portland to call in to day and look through this immense [illegible].

REPUBLICAN DEMONSTRATION.

For a week past the announcement has been made in the daily press of the city and also by means of posters, that a grand Republican rally would take place at Masonic Hall on Saturday evening, October 23d. The demonstration was intended as the finale of the present congressional campaign and extensive arrangements were made to have the meeting correspond in every respect with the importance of the occasion. No efforts were spared by members of the committee to whom was entrusted the perfecting and carrying out of all necessary arrangements and the result was such as might reasonably have been anticipated. In every essential particular attendance and enthusiasm—the demonstration was all that could be desired by the most ardent supporters of the claims of Mr Warren. During Saturday afternoon the Northwestern Band was drawn through the principal streets of the city in a wagon on the sides of which were conspicuously displayed streamers reminding the public that a grand Republican demonstration was to take place at Masonic Hall in the evening. This exhibition, with other auxiliaries in the way of fire works bonfires etc gave wide publicity to the fact, had the effect to attract general attention and drew together in the evening an immense concourse of our citizens. Shortly after 7 o'clock a huge bonfire was kindled at the intersection of Third and Alder streets, which threw a glare far and wide and illuminated the dark streets for a long distance challenging the attention of hundreds. About the same time dulcet strains of music floated out upon the damp air discoursed by the Northwestern Band, stationed on the sidewalk in front of the hall. Skyrockets and Roman candles at brief intervals went hissing through the cloudy night air flashing with their brilliant hues of green, blue and gold like fiery meteors far above the loftiest steeples. Crowds of citizens were soon pouring along the sidewalks, elbowing their way through the throngs of spectators, moving by a common impulse toward the place of rendezvous. Long before 8 o'clock—the hour designated for the meeting to open—the spacious room on the second floor was literally jammed by the eager and expectant crowds which notwithstanding the disagreeableness of the evening, continued to pour in at the side portals and file up the broad stairway. Every seat soon found an occupant and standing room was in great demand. After the aisles were filled the throngs still pressed in, until the entrance was completely blocked up. Hundreds unable to gain admittance, were compelled to go away.

The large audience was called to order, and Judge J H Woodward was introduced. Although quite brief in his remarks Judge Woodward made a pointed and effective speech which judging from the frequent interruptions by applause, must have met with the hearty approval of the audience. Mr Mitchell was then introduced and addressed the meeting at considerable length. His speech was well received, and was often interrupted by vociferous demonstrations of approval. Hon Rufus Mallory and Col N B Knight, of Salem had been announced to address the meeting, but, as the greater portion of the time was consumed by Mr Mitchell by mutual consent, neither of those gentlemen spoke. At the conclusion of Mr Mitchell's speech the meeting broke up, and the crowd dispersed. The meeting was characterized by harmony of action, and was an enthusiastic one. Its beneficial effects will doubtless be felt to day in swelling Warren's majority in this city and county.

BRIEF NOTES.

Election to day.

Non judicial day.

No saloon allowed to be open to day.

The political cauldron is "ebullating."

No chance for drinks until the polls close.

"Who will you vote for?" will be the leading conundrum on the streets to day.

Vigilance Hook and Ladder Co is to have its alley way treated to a new sidewalk.

A new feed stable is to be built on the corner of Front and Salmon streets. It will be 40x75 feet.

Engine companies No 2 and No 4 are to have new stoves pipes, etc added to their houses.

The steamer Annie Stewart came up yesterday morning having the American bark Herbet Black in tow.

One of the main pipes of the fruit dryer in East Portland burst on Thursday which stopped work for about one day.

The bark Herbet Black, with a cargo of coal is lying at the gas company's wharf and will soon commence to discharge cargo.

The tug Bruno is now undergoing repairs at the Willamet iron works. She will go down the river to morrow or Wednesday.

The boiler of the tug C J Brenham having been repaired, was tested yesterday by Inspector Lotan. It stood the test and a certificate was granted.

Piles are being delivered along the trestle work of the railroad passing through East Portland. It is the intention to replace the old piles with new ones.

The government dredger will soon be through at the mouth of the Wallamet when those in charge will be ordered to commence operations at Postoffice bar.

This morning the barge Autocrat will be towed down the river by the Annie Stewart. The barge has on board 625 tons of wheat and the steamer 150 tons. This grain will be transferred to the City of Perth.

Mr John O'Neill the popular merchant tailor took his departure on the steamer for San Francisco, where he goes to lay in a large stock of goods. Immediately on his return to Portland, Mr O'Neill will open the large store room on the corner of Stark and First streets formerly occupied by S L Marsh & Co. He will carry on an extensive tailoring establishment, and also keep a large and fashionable assortment of gents' furnishing goods. Mr O'Neill will return in a few weeks, when he will be pleased to meet all his old friends and customers of whom John has scores.

There is no marked change in the condition of financial matters, the shipments of coin from the [illegible] being in excess of importations, at present, with reasonably ready receipts from the interior. During the past week there has been a very considerable amount of funds disbursed at this point for grain purchased in the interior, and as a consequence the supply is rather shorter than it was a week ago, without anything to indicate a special scarcity. Rates for loans and discounts remain firm at the figures previously reported, with a conservative disposition on the part of money lenders to keep their resources well in hand, but occasional sums are placed at 10@12 per cent. and the usual commissions if negotiated with seconds.

In the general merchandise market there is a much fuller demand for winter goods and a growing activity in trade, which is expected to develop into a very full volume of transactions within a week or a fortnight at most.

The produce movement has not been so very brisk the present week, owing to the fact of bad weather and a lull in the arrival of vessels, but the prospects of a liberal supply of tonnage near at hand promises to make matters more active in this department of trade within the next ten days. Prices have undergone no change since our last review.

Having had large experience in the use of Shuttle Machines I consider the No. 7 which I purchased of you some time ago to be the best Machine for my business of Tailoring, that I ever used. It is easily managed and does every kind of work perfectly. (Signed) F. S. MEADE.

I have used nearly all the leading manufacturing Machines and having tried a New Wheeler & Wilson No. 7 which I have thoroughly tested, I certify that there is no Machine equal to it for range of work and beauty of stitch.

PORTLAND, Ogn, Sept. 25, 1875.
We, the undersigned, have thoroughly tested and examined the New Wheeler & Wilson Nos. 6 and 7 Manufacturing Machines and find them superior to any we have ever seen for the purposes for which they are recommended. They are adapted to a great range of work and make a perfect stitch on all kinds of material. The motion being rotary the yarn with great ease and quietness and as every part is perfectly finished they must be very durable.

The New No. 7 Manufacturing Machine which I recently purchased of you, I am using in my business of Shirt Making, and it works to my entire satisfaction. Although a cripple, and having the use of but one foot, yet I manage it with great ease.

POND'S EXTRACT

"Hear, for I will speak of excellent things."

POND'S EXTRACT The great Vegetable Pain Destroyer. Has been in use over thirty years, and for cleanliness and prompt curative virtues cannot be excelled.

CHILDREN. No family can afford to be without Pond's Extract. Accidents, Bruises, Contusions, Cuts, Sprains, are relieved almost instantly by external application. Promptly relieves pains of Burns, Scalds, Excoriations, Chafings, Old Sores, Boils, Felons, Corns, etc. Arrests inflammation, reduces swellings, stops bleeding, removes discoloration and heals rapidly.

FEMALE WEAKNESSES. It always relieves pain in the back and loins, fullness and pressing pain in the head, nausea, vertigo.

IN LEUCORRHŒA it has no equal. All kinds of ulcerations to which ladies are subject are promptly cured. Fuller details in book accompanying each bottle.

PILES—blind or bleeding—meet prompt relief and ready cure. No case, however chronic or obstinate, can long resist its regular use.

VARICOSE VEINS. It is the only sure cure.

KIDNEY DISEASES. It has no equal for permanent cure.

BLEEDING from any cause. For this it is a specific. It has saved hundreds of lives when all other remedies failed to arrest bleeding from nose, stomach, lungs, and elsewhere.

TOOTHACHE, Earache, Neuralgia and Rheumatism are all alike relieved, and often permanently cured.

PHYSICIANS of all schools who are acquainted with Pond's Extract of Witch Hazel recommend it in their practice. We have letters of commendation from hundreds of Physicians, many of whom order it for use in their own practice. In addition to the foregoing, they order its use for Swellings of all kinds, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Inflamed Tonsils, simple and chronic Diarrhœa, Catarrh (for which it is a specific), Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Stings of Insects, Musquitoes, etc., Chapped Hands, Face, and indeed all manner of skin diseases.

TOILET USE. Removes Soreness, Roughness and Smarting; heals Cuts, Eruptions and Pimples. It revives, invigorates and refreshes, while wonderfully improving the Complexion.

TO FARMERS—Pond's Extract. No Stock Breeder, no Livery Man can afford to be without it. It is used by all the leading Livery Stables, Street Railroads and first Horsemen in New York City. It has no equal for Sprains, Harness or Saddle Chafings, Stiffness, Scratches, Swellings, Cuts, Lacerations, Bleedings, Pneumonia, Colic, Diarrhœa, Chills, Colds, &c. Its range of action is wide, and the relief it affords is so prompt that it is invaluable in every Farm-yard as well as in every Farm-house. Let it be tried once, and you will never be without it.

CAUTION! Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine article has the words Pond's Extract blown in each bottle. It is prepared by the only persons living who ever knew how to prepare it properly. Refuse all other preparations of Witch Hazel. This is the only article used by Physicians, and in the hospitals of this country and Europe.

HISTORY and Uses of Pond's Extract, in pamphlet form, sent free on application to POND'S EXTRACT COMPANY, 98 Maiden Lane, New York.
